

Property Investment Forum 2022 program

8:00-8:40 Registration

Section I./A - We are starting a new chapter again!

There is no relief in the world, but real estate remains a safety(?). The effects of Covid are still not final on the office market; the shade of recession, the depressing inflation, the unpredictability of construction, rising financing costs, the war and many connected areas have turned the real estate market into a crazy and risky boardgame. Let us find sustainable and profitable paths in the market's jungle.

Section II./A - Expensive and cheap! - But what is expensive, what is cheap?

The macroeconomic environment, both in a wider and narrow sense, has a profound impact on the potential of the domestic real estate market. Investors' and financiers' risk policies and their ideas about the industry are of key importance. And politics, as we have experienced in the last few years, in some cases, are the most critical incentives (building new apartments through a housing benefit scheme), and with their pro-cyclical development policy, they can also be an unbeatable competitor to the market players. Balance could be the keyword, and it would be best to find it as soon as possible.

11:10 - 11:50 Macro-overview and war economic policy - What will it bring to the housing market?

Moderator: Zoltán Bán, CEO, Net Média (Portfolio Group)

Conversation participants:

István Madár, Senior Analyst, Portfolio

Gergely Tardos, Director, OTP Bank

Viktor Zsiday, Portfolio Manager, Hold Alapkezelő Zrt., Citadella Származtatott Befektetési Alap

11:50 - 12:05 A message from the future! - Innovative measurement solutions

The real overhead reduction starts with metering. A meter-based, transparent, and casual billing of water, heating and cooling energy, and electricity used within the building is now a basic requirement for tenants and the basis for long-term cooperation (investor confidence). Let's see the solutions!

Speaker:

dr Zoltán Uzonyi, Country Manager, ista Magyarország Kft.

12:05 - 12:50 Future of FM/PM - Overhead crisis in focus 2.0, energetics, cost reduction, and greening

Moderator: Dániel Pintér, Associate Director, Head of Property & Project Management, Eston International

Conversation participants:

Miklós Gyertyánfy MRICS, működési vezérigazgató-helyettes, Gránit Pólus

Tibor Karsai, Managing Director, Rustler Kft.

Conversation participants:

Márk Balástyai, CEO, Futureal Energy

András Berendi, CEO, Roland Divatház Zrt.

Section II./B - Profit hunting

Risks, volatility, inflation, uncertainty. You will need a strong nervous system for making longer-term investment decisions, while market participants are also under increasing pressure to deliver returns. Which are the best products? Is there an actual demand for greening and other values, or is there simply “ESG-washing”? Has the hotel sector returned? What development and investment potential does the sector most affected by the epidemic offer?

13:30 - 14:15 Investment market - Yield hunting - ESG - Predictability - Money is looking for its place, but where will it be?

Moderator: Bálint Botos, Managing Partner, Forestay RE Fund Management

Conversation participants:

Balázs Benczédi, CEO, Diófa Alapkezelő

Attila Madler, Asset Management Director, CPI Hungary

Speakers:

László Kemenes MRICS, Managing Director Hungary, Panattoni

Rudolf Nemes, vezérigazgató, HelloParks

Zoltán Póser, Chief Government Advisor to the Prime Minister's Office, Prime Minister's Office

Section III./A - Will it all be built!?

The construction industry, implementation, or construction management cannot get out of the focus; in fact, they are needed more than ever. Although many would be glad if they could do their job quietly, at a planned pace, with adequate supplies and predictable costs in the problematic implementation process, today, this is merely a dream for most.

Meanwhile, the market for new apartments is at a crossroads. The phasing out/extension of the support scheme raises more questions than answers at the moment. The brownfield lands have the game in their hands. If everything stays as is, the term "brownfield land" will become the most popular housing market

13:50 - 14:05 What do we have energy for; that is, how energy-conscious is the Hungarian population?

Speaker:

Dr. Csilla Rázsóné Szórády, CEO, Újház

14:05 - 14:50 Dark clouds above our heads - This is how the Hungarian construction industry will be saved!

Moderator: Gábor Kiss, Managing Director, Metrodom Kivitelező Kft., IFK, Vice-chairman

Conversation participants:

András Ábrahám, Project Director, Skanska's commercial development business unit in Hungary

Balázs Báthory, Deputy CEO, Market Építő Zrt.

Gergely Laczkovich, Managing director, 3E International Kft.

Dr. Csilla Rázsóné Szórády, CEO, Újház

Péter Reicher, Country Manager, Graphisoft SE

14:50 - 15:05 Mandatory warranty error handling after delivery - efficient, traceable, software-based

Case study. Housing estates of Biggeorge Property are popping up in many parts of Budapest, but the contractor's work does not end with the delivery of the apartments. But how do we manage the mandatory warranty issues, so subcontractors and occupants always have the correct information? In the presentation, we look back at the first year and look for the response to the question of whether it was worth investing in such software.

Speaker:

Anita Zakrzewski, sales manager, TOPdesk Magyarország Kft.

15:05 - 15:50 Housing market - Rust or nothing? - Is there a life beyond Budapest?

Moderator: Gábor Soóki-Tóth, Head of CEE Residential Working Group, RICS

Csongor Sándor, Real Estate Development Director, Nhood Services Hungary Kft.

Gabriella Szörcsök, Residential Sales Manager, Atenor

Coffe break & networking

Section III./B - The new ones are coming!

It is not possible for nothing to happen at all. That is why the development market cannot stop and freeze completely. Meeting the latest expectations of tenants, customers, regulators, investors, financiers, and planners is a complex and complicated task. Nowadays, it is no longer enough to design and build buildings that are in good technical condition and of average design. Today, brands, ecosystems, communities, millions of smart features and complex mini-worlds need to be produced, while companies focus on and exceed sustainability and ESG requirements to gain a competitive advantage.

15:40 - 15:55 The five main advantages of BIM-based digitalised facility management

Speakers:

16:55 - 17:05 Property Market project presentation

Speaker:

Károly Katkó, Office Leasing Director, Property Market Kft.

Section IV./A - „The show must go on!”

A thriving industrial and logistics sector and an ambitious vision for the future. Despite the existing and ever more pressing difficulties and challenges, life and the market do not and cannot stop, as there is much to be done, even if new projects may be launched and implemented in smaller numbers if utilisation and functions change. As a responsible developer, investor, and market player of any kind, the transformation of existing stock and the identification of well-specified improvements should be a priority. Sustainable growth is on the way(?).

16:10 - 16:55 Industry and logistics properties - The special attention remains

Award ceremony

Giving out prizes awarded by a jury of eminent members of the profession and the audience award.

Members of the jury:

Reception & Networking

Stay with us after the technical programmes, join us in cheering the real estate industry's top performers at the awards ceremony and toast the winners at the standing reception afterwards!

We will help to create a good atmosphere with gourmet snacks and a wide selection of drinks. Thanks to Atenor, the popular Gin&Tonic bar will have a central role again this year. The OTP Bank will provide a champagne bar, and after the daytime coffees, 3E International will offer Prosecco tasting in the evening. Rézangyal will provide the pálinkas again, and the wine selection will be brought to us by Jammertal Wine Estate. We look forward to welcoming you!
